The High Diving Contests Are Over

THE days of seeing how fast you can chase a shaving cream cap down the drain pipe are past. For here is a cap that can't get lost. It's hinged on. Think what a lot of minutes it will save. No matter how carelessly you handle your shaving apparatus, the cap is on to stay.

With a convenience like this cap you might be tempted to use Williams' Shaving Cream whether you cared much for the cream or not. But once you use Williams' you'll like it as well as you do the cap. For Williams' breaks all records for fast softening of the beard. And more, it is good for the skin—soothes it, keeps it in good condition always.

Test a tube of Williams' by judging it on every point you can think of—speed, lather, comfort. See if you don't think it's noticeably better.

STUDENTS' SOCIETY MEETING MARKED BY GREAT ENTHUSIASM

Best Attendance for Years—Financial Report Shows an Income of About $700 Each from Union, "Daily", and Athletics—Importance of Theatre Night Stressed—Officers-Elect Assume Responsibility of Positions.

One of the most successful and best attended meetings of the Students' Society in several years, was held in the Union Ball Room yesterday, between four and five hundred men being present.

A financial report showing an estimated increase of close to four thousand dollars in undergraduate activities over the previous year, was the outstanding feature of yesterday's meeting. The Students' Council itself will show a profit of $2,397.43, out of which the Union will probably have an excess of $715.33, and McGill Daily will be able to turn over $738.18 to the Council.

The meeting went on record as being in favour of the incoming Student's Council taking up, in conjunction with the College authorities, the matter of having the session begin two weeks earlier than at present and end at the beginning of May instead of the middle of that month.

The report of Don Foss, president of the Athletic Association, showed that McGill had captured more intercollegiate championships than Queens and Varsity combined. The Track, Tennis, Assault-at-Arms, Winter Carnival, Water Polo, Basketball and Gymnastic Competition had all fallen to McGill. Varsity came out on top in English Rugby, Hockey, Harrier and Swimming, while Queen's were the Intercollegiate champions in Rugby.

Hamilton, retiring president of the Students' Council, and Syd. Harris, retiring secretary of the Union, both read enthusiastic reports. The Rugby, Hockey and Track Clubs were also heard from, and their reports were very promising.

The meeting opened with the reading and adoption of the minutes of the previous gathering. The secretary, Fraser, then read the financial statement for the year, which showed the Council and all related activities would have an increase of nearly four thousand dollars.

Alteration in Term

Alexander then moved that the session be rearranged so that college begin two weeks earlier than at present, and also end a fortnight sooner than at present. Fall athletics would benefit considerably by this change, as the men would have more time to get into shape for intercollegiate activities. The Christmas examinations could be held before the holidays, and as a result the men would be able to spend a really enjoyable vacation. It is far easier to get satisfactory employment for the summer at the beginning of May than it is on the fifteenth of that month. It would probably take two years to bring this proposed measure into force, since the men would not care to lose four weeks of their vacation, as would be necessary if the change were made in one year. The motion was seconded by Stone.

Hamilton stressed the importance of the point of obtaining summer employment. There is no doubt that a much better position can be obtained at the beginning of May than in the middle. The effect on athletics would indeed be great.

Bob Ogilvy, Sci. '24, said that at present the term in the first three years of Applied Science ended on the 28th of April, and began the first of October. He thought that the motion was a good one, but that it would not benefit Science in any way. O'Hagan said that the Science men were apparently satisfied with their term arrangement, but as the other faculties would undoubtedly bene-

SUCCESS OF BIG EFFORT IS ASSURED

All Points to Huge Crowd and Great Enthusiasm

8 O'CLOCK SHARP

Weeks of Preparation Come to Close Tonight

With all the pomp and ceremony with which such an affair should be honored, the McGill Theatre Night will take place to-night at the St. Denis Theatre. It is very little of an exaggeration to say that all McGill is going; for not only undergraduates, but graduates and members of the professoriate will be seen in large numbers. Many weeks of strenuous preparation have been put in by the executive, and the performers, with the result that the programme will be beyond reproach; few people realize just how much earnest effort has been shown by those who will, on the big night, remain in the background to view, with satisfaction, the results of their endeavours. For these the only reward will be the joy of accomplishment, but there is no doubt that the undergraduate body, as a whole, feels its indebtedness to such workers.

The programme will probably last for about two hours and a half, and will start sharp at eight o'clock. As two rehearsals will take place to-day, it is to be expected that the performance will be the last word in snappiness. The playlets average fifteen minutes, and if no unforeseen delays take place between the acts, everything should be carried through in fine shape.

It would be of little avail to enlarge at any length upon the wonders of the programme, as all the skits have been mentioned before. It can only be emphasized again that the utmost gentleness is expected to prevail in order to ensure the evening's success.

Below is the programme in the order in which the acts will appear:

- 1.—"Hail Alma Mater."
- 2.—Alma Mater March
- 3.—"An Extract" (not Lemon) ... Dentistry.
- 4.—"Freshmen Beware" ... Arts.
- 5.—"Some Class to Us" ... Law.
- 6.—"Husband Trapping '36" R.V.C.
- 7.—Athletic Review ... Athletic Ass'n.
- 8.—Orchestral Selection.
- 9.—Nocturne from "Midsummer Night's Dream" ... Mendelssohn

- 11.—"Lightning Sketches" ... Les Perry
- 12.—"Behind the Beyond" ... Graduates
- 13.—"Spirit Sparks and Spirits" ... Science

- 15.—"Jazz Revue" ... Combined Orchestras FINIS.

LIT. GATHERING IN THE UNION

At Five o'clock This Afternoon in Union

Owing to the evident misunderstanding that existed among certain members of the undergraduate body as to the time and place of the meeting of the Literary and Debating Society which was called for yesterday afternoon, it was deemed prudent to cancel that meeting and to call another for the same hour, five o'clock, this afternoon, in the lounge room of the Union. The most pressing matter of business for this afternoon's gathering, which, it is hoped, will be a representative one, will be the election of officers to carry on the work so ably begun by the executive of this past year. However, equally important will be the discussion of the policy of the society next year. Every man in the University is a member, and the executive feel that it is essential for the welfare of the organization that every man be not only a member in name but an active member in deed.

THE LAST ISSUE

The "Daily" will appear for the last time this session, with the exception of the Convocation Issue, which will come out about the first of May, tomorrow morning. Accordingly, any executives who may desire to insert notices in this, the last regular publication of the year, would be advised to see to it that the same reach the "Daily" office at an early hour this afternoon to ensure their insertion, as it is intended to send the paper to press at an early hour in the evening.

A TENDENCY TO EVAPORATE PSYCHOLOGY

Dr. Hickson Gave Pertinent and Instructive Address

GOOD ATTENDANCE

Psychological Society Puts on Essay Competition

Thirty members of the Psychological Society, among them Professors Tait and MacKay, Mr. De Silva and Mr. Quayle, were present in the Reading Room of Strathcona Hall last night.

Dr. Hickson, the speaker of the evening, was introduced by H. F. Hall, president of the club, and took as his subject: "A recent tendency to evaporate Psychology." After prefacing his remarks Dr. Hickson said that, "when we refer to a science such as chemistry or physics, we have in mind an organized body of subject matter; that point of view is what distinguishes one science from another." He went on to say that Psychology is not essentially an individualistic science, that the two present day ideas of psychology with which he would deal would be: first, that psychology is the science of immediate behaviour. Dr. Hickson said this definition was not true to facts, because physics and the other experimental sciences were just as much sciences of immediate experience. This latter concept the speaker classed as too wide.

Some of the foremost personages connected with Behaviorism mentioned were Low, Holt, Perry, Dunlop, and in particular J. B. Watson. To this movement, which ought to be opposed in the interests of psychology itself, Dr. Hickson said these were two phases, namely, the positive, which attempts to justify itself by reason of its practical good and which concerns itself solely with changes set up in the organism; and the negative which ignores modes of human experience, diminishes consciousness, drives imagery outrightly and rejects the method of introspection which has been a distinguishing feature of psychology. The speaker said that one of the leading factors in the rise of the tendency was the impatience of behaviorists with the lack of results in experimental psychology, and with the fact that no satisfactory distinction had been made between sensation and image. He pointed out that sixty years is not long in the development of an experimental science. For example, only in the 16th century did physics leave scholastic for experimental methods, and to-day there is no satisfactory explanation of gravitation. It was also pointed out that only in the 19th century did psychology become a systematic science at all, and since that time has not had nearly so many intense and expert workers as other sciences. The speaker pointed out that such works as those of Binet depended much on introspection, and an-

THEATRE NIGHT

Probably the greatest undertaking in the history of the McGill Students' Society, with the possible exception of the Centennial Reunion of a year and a half ago, will be attempted tonight when the greatly advertised, diligently prepared, and keenly anticipated McGill Theatre Night will take place. Tonight will be a night off for the undergraduate; studies will be forgotten, and previous engagements ignored. Professors and student body will make merry together. And in the appeal for all to be on hand, for all to enjoy to the full the proceedings for and by the students of McGill, the equally timely exhortation that every McGill man in his conduct remember his obligations to his Alma Mater, must not be overlooked. Rowdiness will not be tolerated; noise and hilarity are to be expected, but the actions of the students should, as we are assured they will, evidence the ability of the undergraduate to distinguish between the first named and its two successors. McGill will celebrate, but McGill will be respectful of the property of others, and dutiful to the trust which is placed in her. All good luck to the Theatre Night, and congratulations to those who have made its achievement possible.

THE SUMMER RECESS

That the vast majority of those present at the Students' Society meeting of yesterday morning were unhesitatingly in favour of steps being taken to prevent seemingly unnecessary encroachments upon the summer recess, and that, therefore, previous mention of the inadvisability of such shortening of the summer months by the authorities in this column was justified, was demonstrated by the opinions expressed and by the action taken at that representative gathering of McGill students. Canadian students are proud of their ability to pay their way through college, if so called upon to do, and will not relinquish that privilege without a struggle. When similar restriction of the summer period was mooted at Toronto Varsity, the undergraduates there manifested their dislike of the proposal in such convincing fashion that their demands were given immediate consideration. It may be confidently believed, however, that the authorities at McGill require but an evidence of undergraduate sentiment prior to giving it the thought and attention it merits. That, consequently, the recommendation shortly to be forwarded by the Students' Council will receive that attention there can be no doubt.

S.C.A. BOARD MET FOR FIRST TIME

Election of Officers and Convenors Took Place

The recently appointed Board of Directors of the Student Christian Association met in Strathcona Hall last evening for the first time. After supper, with the president, G. W. Mitchell, in the chair, the election of further officers and the appointment of convenors of committees took place. Robert F. Ogilvy was elected first vice-president, and will act as chairman in the absence of the president. Donald Stewart and Cecil T. Teakle were respectively chosen second vice-president and secretary. The following are the convenors of the committees: Hospitality and Society, Donald Stewart and Wendell McLeod; Religious Meetings, McVicar; Missions, Michener; Conferences, A. Ross; Membership, R. F. Ogilvy; Bible Study, Maxwell; House, F. S. Howes; Service, L. C. Tombs; Magazine, Milley.

The position of treasurer and convenor of the Finance Committee will be filled at a later date. After the election of officers, a discussion of the present situation and the future policy of the S.C.A. took place, led by J. G. McKay, the general secretary. It is the intention of the Board to hold a meeting at five o'clock next Monday afternoon, March 26th, at which all members are requested to be present. A very important business is to come as very important business is to come.

MEDS. INDEBTED FOR USE OF ARTICLES

The Faculty of Medicine, in presenting their bill for McGill Theatre Night, have found it necessary to borrow some indispensable articles from the following firms, and wish to express their sincerest thanks through the medium of the Daily:

R. N. Taylor—Optician; D. Levinson, Men's Wear; Peate Musical Manufacturing Co.; Philbin's Hardware Co.

MANDOLIN CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Past Has Been Successful Season

The Mandolin Club has now completed one of the most successful years of its history, and deserving credit is due to each and every member who supported it. The club has filled in a great many gaps in the different activities around college. It made its debut at the Allen Theatre in the fall and was well received again on its second appearance, not long ago, by a packed house. The meeting yesterday afternoon was called in order to discuss the possibility of holding a banquet, but as it is getting late in the season it was decided not to hold one.

The matter about pins was brought up by Hammy Hamilton, who very kindly dropped in, stated that, to his regret, the Council did not see its way clear to give awards at present owing to financial conditions, but that a committee had been drawn up to inquire into the matter. However, if any member desires pins, such as those bought by the members last year, can obtain further information about them from Bob Logan.

The making of the gramophone record was then brought up, and one of the two pieces played has been accepted and the company are awaiting the action of the Glee Club, who have been approached, to make a record on the opposite side. In the election of officers for the coming year, the following were appointed:

Hon. Pres.—Prof. H. E. Reilly.
Pres.—Art. Branscombe, Sci. '25.
Vice-Pres.—W. Berridge, Sci. '25.
Sec.—Treas.—Bruce Hart, Arts '26.
Reporter—W. Sharples, Sci. '25.
In view of the fact that eight members are graduating, it is hoped that more men may be enlisted in the membership of the club.

LAW UNDERGRADS NOMINATE OFFICERS

Candidates Will Be Introduced at General Meeting

Keen interest marks the elections in the Law Undergraduate Society, the nominations for which were turned in yesterday and every position will be contested by two men. With the well known tendency of the Law students to enter into any political contest with vim the local society is preparing for a hot campaign.

A peculiar fact about the present nominations is that the men have been nominated by practically the same people in every case and a nice question comes up as to which of the candidates they will support in the election. It is stated that the men who have signed the papers will work hard in support of their favourites, however. The Law Undergraduate Society has no constitution and there is very little authority on which the officials can control the elections, so that there are some interesting stunts expected during the next few days.

The candidates will speak at a general meeting of the Law students at 12 o'clock on Friday next and will outline the platforms on which they hope to secure their votes. This is always one of the big occasions of the year for the legal lights and some promising platforms should be brought out. The men nominated for president are W. M. Bourke, B.A., and F. R. Chauvin, B.Sc.A. For the office of vice-president, F. V. Hudon and F. Collins, B.A., have been nominated, while for the office of treasurer, Marcel Gaboury, B.A., and Paul Wickham are the nominees for the occasion. The secretary is elected from the incoming first year next fall. The signatures to the nomination papers were as follows:

SPEED KING ONCE AGAIN IN ACTION

'Ges' Hay and Gaboury Turn Out With Yearlings
MANY RECRUITS

Coach Van Wagner Gives Crowd Stiff Practice

Once again "Ges" Hay, the Captain of last year's championship track team, showed that speed that made him the hero of that victorious meet last October. The giant sprinter turning out with the men who are getting into shape for next year, did the circuit of the High School at a fast clip, and was also an interesting observer of the material that will go to make up next year's team. Gaboury, the title holder in the pole vault, and the winner of the discus, was also out getting into shape. This versatile athlete will lead the Red and White team next year, and he is already working hard to get into condition. Twenty-six others were out, and for the most part these men were as yet new to the sport world of the University, but among them there were some who will without doubt be among the stars on next year's team.

Coach Van Wagner gave the candidates a good work-out, and although no speed work was possible in the gymnasium, a lot of time was spent in developing the starts, high jumpers, and hurdlers. There were a good number of men who, if they stick at the game, should be able to catch a place on the team next year. As the low hurdles will be in the Inter-faculty meet it is expected that a large group will devote some time to this phase of the sport.

The plans for the developing of a team that will be able to retain the title are already almost complete. Although the management of the club is being kept busy with the details of the coming Canadian Inter-Scholastic Championships, they are also working out a plan so that every man who turns out next year will have a chance to show what he is worth long before the meets which are often held under unfavorable conditions.

The big chance for men who are not to get their letter in the sport will be in the running department. With the departure of Hay, Johnson, Hamilton and Legg the team is left without a single man who has placed first in the inter-collegiate fixture from the hundred yard dash to the long endurance grind. Toronto loses Bell, the star weight man, but this is small compensation indeed for the stars that the Red and White will have to replace. There is a strong nucleus, however, around which to build up a team. Patterson should turn in a good card in the sprints, if he is able to get enough training and practice. Watson, Wilson, Grimsom, Alexander & several other good middle distance men should be back in their suits before long, and by next fall should be able to give the Blue and White men a hard battle for the races.

Wiggins will be out for the three mile run, and should be at top form. Stephens, his running mate, is leaving college, however, and another man will be needed in this distance. In the mile, Kerr, who showed up well with the Harriers, should be able to score.

The field events are the Red and White strong department. Captain Gaboury will be an entry in the pole vault and discus, as well as the shot.

Kennedy should be breaking records again for the Red and White team next year. Consiglio and Darling are both due to be topping the hurdles again, and this year the Blue and White will have to break the record to capture the five points. Amaron, Jardine and Freidman will be back to shove the weights around, and should gather in a nice bunch of points.

The team this is in most apparent need of a good number of runners, and also it is up to the men who have shown up in the minor meets to start practice soon. Coach Van Wagner is only waiting for the snow to go and he will have the outfit up on the cinders and training for the real meet.

At the recent meeting of the Track Club the possibility of a meet with the University of Montreal was brought up and it is expected that this, too, will give the Red and White runners a chance to display their ability, while it is also hoped that once again the relay team will be out to win between the halves of the football games. It is unfortunate too, to note that of the four stars leaving McGill the four names of one of the greatest Red and White relay teams are listed, but with Code and Faith back the team should be able to put up some sort of a battle.

The practices of the team will be held on Monday and Wednesday at six, in the High School, and all new men are urged to turn out as well as the men of last year's team who hope to move up a peg and capture a first next fall.

Do you know, kind readers, that some contributor had the nerve to hand in the joke about the "bouncing baby"?—Yeah, the one about the little boy dropping his baby brother to see if it would bounce, because some one had called it a "bouncing baby."

COHEN SPOKE ON HISTORY OF ZIONISM

Traced Events in Existence of Jewish People

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

Speaker's Discourse Both Interesting and Clever

Bernard Cohen, of Arts '24, was the speaker at last night's meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club at Strathcona Hall. His subject was "Jewish History from the Earliest Times to the Present Day, and Zionism", and he showed a very profound knowledge of this topic. His subject matter was well arranged, and as his speech was delivered with very little assistance from notes, it was far more pleasing to his readers. Fotos, president of the club, introduced the speaker, and expressed his regrets that more could not be present to listen to the address.

Cohen opened his speech by assuring the members that he would not attempt to cover the whole course of Jewish History, as such an outline would be impossible in a short time, if he wished to do justice to even the principal events. The earliest Jewish History is told in the Bible, and there the speaker urged his hearers to turn for detailed information on this period. For this reason he passed to the period after the Restoration. Palestine was captured when Alexander made his great conquests, and, as is well known, after Alexander's death his empire was divided into three sections, of which two were governed by Ptolemy and Seleucus. Palestine then became the bone of contention between these two rulers, and continued to be so for many years. After a considerable lapse of time, King Antiochus of Syria, feeling that his nation was getting Hellenized through the influence of Greek culture, and seeing something different in his Jewish subjects, passed cruel laws to try and coerce them to worship the Greek gods. Finally, a great struggle took place between the Jews and Persia, and the Jews for a time became independent.

Then the Jews came under the dominion of the great power of the centuries just before and after the beginning of the Christian era—Rome, who were cruel rulers and incited the Jews to revolt by their tyrannous methods. But in the year 70 A.D. their efforts came to an end, and they fell into absolute captivity.

From this time on Jewish communities became established in many parts of the world and spread out into all nations. The first one of any size was in Alexandria, while a few hundred years later the Jews had spread as far as Gaul. In the tenth century they were found in both Germany and Spain, and their dissimulation has been continued until the present day. Later on, about a century afterwards, great Jewish massacres took place during the crusades which followed the rise of Christianity; and henceforward the life of the Jews has been one of almost continual torture and distress at the hands of their enemies. One of the greatest injustices was that of attributing the Black Death of the Middle Ages to the Hebrew people.

In Spain at first the life of the Jew was more fortunate than that of most of his European brethren. But when Roman Catholic kings came into power, their lot here became equally bad, and the terrible deeds perpetrated by the Inquisition are blots on the pages of history. And, in the year 1492, 500,000 Jews were forced to leave Spain and emigrate to Turkey, where they found peace. It is well to notice that all the Jews did not leave, and some practiced their religion in secret for 350 years.

Turning to the matter of Zionism, Cohen showed some of the prime reasons why the Jews wished to go back to Palestine. Bismarck started the nineteenth century anti-Jewish movement, and in the eighties some of the Russians started to emigrate. They returned with little money and little knowledge of agriculture, having been mostly town-dwellers. In Palestine there were many dangers to undergo, principal of which were the fever and the wandering Bedouins.

At first this movement had no political connection, but Dr. Theodore Herzl, with some assistance, originated "Political Zionism" and held a meeting in Basle in 1897, although at that time there were few followers. It was not until the English conquest of Palestine that any reason for hope was forthcoming to the world Jewry. Since then both the British House of Commons and the American House of Representatives have passed resolutions in favour of the movement, and the number of supporters has greatly increased.

In closing the speaker said "the Jews are determined to make the Zionism movement a success" and also that "no greater romance has ever been seen than the spectacle of a nation being rebuilt after eighteen hundred years by the same people that originally owned it."

Fotos thanked the speaker, who then proceeded to answer satisfactorily all questions put to him.

LETTER FROM PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL

Concerning Theatre Night at St. Denis

STUDENT SUPPORT

Urges Good Conduct on Part of Students

The appended letter was received from R. L. Hamilton, President of the Students' Council, and conveys an important message to the students concerning Theatre Night.

To the Students of McGill:
To-night the undergraduates are launching a big Theatre Night, in which most of the music and all of the entertainment is being put on by McGill men and women.

Such Theatre Nights are held by many other universities, and play an important part in student life, and much enjoyment is obtained from them. I have had the pleasure of having seen several—one at Dartmouth especially remains in my memory. It was one of the most excellent performances I have ever seen played by amateurs, and the display of college spirit manifested and loyalty to the players was marvellous.

I feel very confident that the McGill undergraduates will show the same spirit of loyalty to the college and to those who are playing their parts and who have spent many hours in preparation; and also at much personal expense.

I would like the undergraduates to realize that to-night, the eyes of all Montreal are upon us—we must stand together and see that nothing will bring dishonour on the name of Old McGill should happen. Furthermore, we are asking the Faculty and graduates to come to our Theatre Night—we want to have at least one big day each year, when we are all brought together. We are making our start to-day, with the hope that it will be the success it deserves to be and will become an annual event hereafter.

We are further having many distinguished patrons, among them our Principal, who has co-operated with us in every possible way, believing that our Theatre Night, if successful, will bring much praise to Old McGill, and will do much to further that co-operation we seek. We are also to have present Mr. Webb-Johnson, C.B.E., D.S.O., F.R.C.S., the Dean of the Middlesex School of Medicine, London, England. He has been asked especially to be present in order that he can see something of the way undergraduate activities are run in Canada—especially at McGill.

Therefore let us, out of loyalty and respect to our Alma Mater, our patrons, our faculty, graduates and still as much out of loyalty and respect to ourselves—feel honour-bound to see that the McGill Theatre Night is an unprecedented success in college activities.

Still further, I trust that after the theatre is over we will still maintain order, and do nothing to injure the name of Old McGill.

Thanking you, Sir, for the space used in your paper,

R. L. HAMILTON,
Pres., McGill Students' Council.

MISS VERA BROWN WINS FELLOWSHIP

The student who was seen taking the Theatre Night poster from the Union Lobby last night at 6:30 o'clock, roll it up, stick it under his coat and then run out the front door will be allowed the privilege of returning it before 10 a.m. If it is not returned by this hour the culprit will be severely dealt with by the Students' Council.

WESTERNERS HELD FINAL GATHERING

Club to Be Known as the Sociedad Espanol

OFFICERS ELECTED

Smoker Wound Up Season's Activities Last Night

The Western Club wound up the present season with a smoker last night, with Dr. Bazin and three members of the Westerners Club of Montreal—Col. Lowry, president; Dr. Tiffany, and Mr. Cornell—as guests of the College club.

Dr. Bazin spoke well of his Western trip and described Victoria, B.C., as his town to retire in. He urged the members of the club to co-operate together as much as possible, both in student and later life.

Col. Lowry extended greetings and offers of fraternization from the Westerners Club of Montreal. He offered to send a speaker to the college club to address the members on business relations in the outside world; as many prominent business men here are members of the city organization.

Dr. Tiffany, a graduate of Old McGill, spoke a few words, and also Mr. Cornell, to the same effect as Col. Lowry. Each stressed the co-operation of the two clubs to a common welfare.

An orchestra with Crocker, Stevens, "Jazz" Harrison, Simpson, Vango and Moore Kelly provided the musical entertainment. The Hargreaves Kids provided some very excellent banjo duets.

Bill Armstrong, garbed a Jew, put on a novelty boxing exhibition with Graham Huckell, a picturesque hobo. The club executive provided short farcical skits on "Great Moments in History."

The election of officers for the coming year took place and the following were elected:

President—J. Cleland (re-elected).
Vice-Pres.—G. G. Warren.
Secretary—J. Walker.
Treasurer—M. Lloyd.
Med. Rep.—G. Huckell.
Science Rep.—R. Shatford.
Arts Comm.—Law—Irwin.

The election of hon. president will take place in the fall. Refreshments were then served, while some members related stories and recitations.

other example in the field of Psycho-Pathology was the fact that the study of aphasia had received as much from psychology as physiology.

Dr. Hickson said that Behaviorism had dealt drastically with image and held that there were no centrally initiated processes and that thought processes are begun and carried on independent of imagery; that behavior tries to find the equivalent of thought in changes of the sex organs. These the speaker classed at best as mere hypotheses assisted by personal belief. He said that if there be any images it takes considerable rashness to deny them, and that account must be taken of Empirical foils. He said there was a one-sidedness in such an attempt. He pointed out that he did not deny that such changes take place, but only that they are identical with thought.

Mr. Hickson then went on to point out there could be a certain amount of psychology without behaviorism, and that behaviorism and the study of human behavior does not seem to be the same thing, and that some speculations are indispensable to science. He pointed out that, in regard to animal learning, the doctrine of probability can't be applied; also it cannot be shown pleasantness and unpleasantness in the process. If behaviorism tries to make a unitary doctrine of response, digestion would be as much behavioristic as reasoning.

Dr. Hickson added that ethical conduct involves response to ideals, and not merely environment, and that behaviorism attempts to replace a science by a technology. He said the attitude of psychology is impersonal, and its aim is to know and understand; and that psychology cannot be replaced by the present day tendency even though it is colored by a practical goal, emotional appeal, and has a temporarily large following. It was also said the ever since psychology separated itself from philosophy and arranged itself with the natural sciences, biologists and physiologists have regarded it with envy and distrust, even trying to annex it.

It was shown that there was a certain logical irrelevance about the behavioristic programme, which, if it could be carried out, would still ignore fields of psychological investigations. Neither from the standpoint of method or fact, he said, can psychology ever be displaced as a source of knowledge or experience, also that date of introspection don't explain themselves or explain genetic derivation.

In conclusion Dr. Hickson said that objective study is undoubtedly indispensable, it deals with material which no other science leads up to or includes.

Following the address considerable discussion ensued. A vote of thanks was tendered to the speaker by Dr. Tait. The Psychological Society are conducting an essay competition on any subject of psychological interest. The length of the essays will be left to the discretion of the competitors, and are to be handed in not later than April 5th. Suitable prizes will be awarded. The successful competitor will read his paper at the annual meeting, when officers for 1923-24 will be elected.

MORE REALITY THAN RHYME

She quickly passed by on the campus;
My friend and I looked round;
And she herself was prone to lamp us—
At last! My Gwendolyn—found!
Immediately I left my friend,
I followed on her way;
While past the students she would wend
I thought what I would say.

With moments of anxiety—
Her steps indeed were fast,
I traced her to the R.V.C.
And there I saw her last.
So when the Spring is at its height,
And when the snow is gone,
I'll serenade to her all night
And cease at early dawn.

I'll sing to her up there above,
When all the lights are out;
"O hear my song—My Gwendolyn—my love,
"O hear your Randolph shout.
"For I have travelled many miles
To find a girl like you;
"And now, I'm victim of your wiles,
"O please have pity, do . . .

"But I'm a Student Welfare Dub,
And here I should not tarry,
For I'm a member of that club
Where co-eds you can't marry.
So please give up this studious life,
Become a flapper lazy,
For, if you don't become my wife
You'll have this student crazy."

BUSINESS MEETING HELD BY R.V.C. '23

At an important meeting of R.V.C. '23 held yesterday in the Common Room at one o'clock it was decided that the R.V.C. Seniors would give a dance as part of the Convocation festivities. Miss Daphne Rooke and Miss E. D. Campbell were nominated as a committee to find out what date it would be possible to have the dance; it will likely take place immediately after the end of the examinations. This is the first time that there has ever been an R.V.C. Senior dance and there is every prospect that it will be a most successful climax to the college activities of the class of '23.

The meeting unanimously passed a motion emphatically in favour of the Convocation Committee holding a reception on the afternoon of Convocation Day.

The following girls were elected to represent the Seniors in the Annual Public Speaking Contest which is being held by the Delta Sigma Society on Thursday, April 5: Miss Lorna Kerr, Miss Alice Sharples and Miss Louisa Fair.

A great many Seniors have not yet paid the fifty cents due to the Convocation Committee. Miss Alice Roy, the class treasurer, would like to receive this amount from every girl immediately.

CLOSE POLLING IN MEDICAL ELECTIONS

W. F. Emmons, Med. '24, was elected to the presidency of the Medical Undergraduate Society in the annual election of officers yesterday. Five candidates were running and the balloting was very close. C. A. McIntosh is the vice-president for the coming year, and C. L. Pope is case reporter. The new treasurer is G. R. Dempsey, '25, while D. S. Forster, '25, holds the post of counselor. The duties of secretary fall on the shoulders of E. A. MacNaughton, '26.

Nearly all medical students voted during the day and no casualties occurred at the polls.

Just: But there's a Hell for such as you?

Boc: Indeed, they threw me there at first but when the Boss had read Decameron, he sent for me and bid me stay. They say the angels grinned.

Just: A down-right shame! I'll see to it that all the books in heaven are damned!

Boc: Methinks that you mean banned.

Boc: You shock me, sir!

Boc: But sir . . .

Just: Avaunt I say!

Boc: You can not see the Boss. His orders are against your wish.

Just: But why?

Boc: You see, I've writ a sequel to Decameron at his behest, that even now the Boss doth read. It would be suicide to interrupt . . . What what . . . he faints! What ho!

Knowing that you are always interested, and open for an investment in a good, live business proposition, I take the liberty of presenting to you what seems to be a wonderful proposition, and in which, no doubt you will take a great interest. The amount of stock that you will wish to subscribe toward the formation of the company will be optional.

The object of the company is to operate a large Cat and Rat Ranch in or near the city of Hamilton, where land can be purchased cheap for that purpose, from the Government.

To start with we will collect say one million (1,000,000) cats. Each cat will average twelve (12) kittens per year. The value of these cats' skins run from thirty cents (30c) for a white one to seventy cents (70c) for a pure black one. This will give us twelve million skins a year to sell at say an average of fifty cents (50c) each, making a revenue of $6,000,000 per year gross. As a man can skin fifty cats per day we find that it will take eight thousand men to operate the ranch. At an average wage of two dollars a day (McGill student labour) the annual net profit will be $5,520,000 per year.

We will feed the cats on rats, and we have proved that rats multiply four times as fast as cats. Thus if we start with one million rats, we will therefore have four rats per day for each cat, which we have found is quite sufficient for its daily nourishment.

The carcasses of the cats from which the skins have been taken will be fed to the rats, thus allowing each rat one-fourth cat per day.

It will thus be seen that the business is self-acting, and automatic all the way through. In other words, the cats will eat the rats, and the rats will eat the cats, and we will get the valuable skins.

Awaiting your prompt reply, and trusting you will appreciate the opportunities we are giving you to get rich quick, we are,

Yours very truly,
The Pimpernickel Investment Co.

NEW MARCHING SONG FOR OLD MCGILL

The following are the words of the song to be rendered at the McGill Theatre Night at the St. Denis by the orchestra. Circumstances made it impossible to have the march published. For this reason the members of the orchestra are requested to clip the words from the "Daily" and bring them along to the St. Denis. As this is the only means of procuring the words, the request is urgent.

The New McGill March Song

We're out to win
For McGill today.
Still more fame to grace her name
More honour in the fray.
M-C-G-I-double L.

Chorus—
Follow our team along
Watch them fight their way.
They are giving all they have
They are on to stay.
We're back of them for aye
However goes the fray
Naught can stay the old Red & White
From winning their game today.

Brain, fame, might and main
All are in the game
For our dear old Alma Mater,
Must not hear of shame.
M-C-G-I-double L.

fit, the change should be made. Don Foss mentioned that the faculty of Science does an extra month's work during the summer, when the surveying is carried out. It was suggested that this surveying might be carried out during the college term. Ed. Woolcombe, Sci. '23, was strongly against this, claiming that the big thing about the Faculty of Science at McGill was its thorough surveying course. If this were discarded, the standard of the faculty would be greatly lowered.

On being assured that the incoming Council would devote their attentions to this matter, Alexander was persuaded to withdraw his original motion, and move instead, that the incoming Students' Council take up, in conjunction with the College authorities, the matter of adding two weeks to the fall term, and shortening the spring term by an equal time. "Patronize Those Who Patronize Us"

The retiring president's report showed that much had been accomplished during the year. The Pep Rally, held at the beginning of the session, was attended by over 1200 students, and did much to instill in them the spirit of loyalty towards their college.

The definition of the duties of the different athletic managers had done much towards increased efficiency as well as towards the cutting down of expenses.

It was thought, that due to lack of advertising "McGill Daily" would be forced to close down. An advertising campaign was started, and as a result, the "Daily" not only continued, but will have a surplus of nearly seven hundred and fifty dollars. In this connection, Hamilton urged that McGill patronize only those firms who patronized McGill.

Considerable improvement had been made in the Tuck Shop. Care had been taken against overstocking with slow-selling articles, and the shop had been enlarged so that the wares could be better displayed. The long necessary change in the method of athletic government had also been effected.

The McGill Theatre Night is another great undertaking, not yet complete, but which gives every promise of being successful.

That co-operation be maintained between the students, graduates and faculty, and that the number of such events as The Pep Rally and Theatre Night, which do so much towards uniting the students, be increased, were some of the suggestions made by Hamilton in conclusion. "Hammy" also urged that the old custom of initiation of freshmen be kept up. He further desired to see all musical organizations of the College successful. He was especially anxious that McGill men patronize only those who patronize McGill.

Hamilton had heard several criticisms of the sports write-ups in the "Daily," and he felt that an explanation was forthcoming about this. It has long been a custom to send representatives of the "Daily" along with the teams to write up the games, but this was impossible this year, due to the policy of rigid economy which the Council adopted. It was for this reason that the write-ups were not all that was expected. In knitting closer together the undergraduates of McGill and in otherwise serving the interests of the students, the McGill Daily is indeed a great factor in student life.

"If I cannot carry on as well as Hamilton has done this last year, then I only hope that I may do my work with as much modesty as he," said Errol C. Amaron, president elect of the Students' Council, in this inaugural address. Amaron mentioned that he had first met Hammy at a track meet in Sherbrooke, a good many years ago, and later in the battlefield of Flanders. He looked forward to a very successful year in all college activities, and expects that the students will do their part towards making this possible.

Seven Intercollegiate Champs

Don Foss's report of athletic activities showed that seven intercollegiate championships had fallen to McGill this year. Varsity had captured four and Queen's one, so that Old McGill had more than the two combined. By a large margin, the Track meet, held during the fall term went to the Red and White. Largely due to Crocker's efforts, the tennis championship also came to McGill. Under the able direction of coaches Smith and Robinson, the McGill boxers and wrestlers brought home the Assault-at-Arms championship for the first time in many years. Overcoming a lead of three goals, which Varsity had secured, coach Vernot's proteges captured the Water Polo title. From the bottom of the league McGill had climbed to the Basketball championship. In the Gymnasium tournament held only recently, McGill came out 68 points ahead. The Winter Sports Carnival, held with several American Colleges, also went to McGill.

The Rugby Club had had its best financial and worst playing year. Increased interest was being taken by the graduates, and several of them have promised to return and aid the club next year. Frank Shaughnessy has also agreed to return next year to pilot the team.

The Hockey Club showed a deficit of about one thousand dollars. This was due to the great falling off in attendance at the games. Expenses had been greatly reduced, but the great decrease in revenue could not be met. For the first time since 1920, McGill had succeeded in getting the better of Toronto in a hockey match. Intercollegiate Junior and Intermediate hockey had been impossible this year. The younger teams have, however, played in local leagues. The class hockey series, under the direction of Bev. Puddicombe, was very successful. In all, about 300 took part.

The deficit of the Track Club, whilst not entirely wiped out, was greatly reduced. At present it is about six hundred dollars. In the Fresh-Soph meet the Freshmen were successful, whilst the University meet went to Medicine. McGill captured the Intercollegiate affair.

The annual report of the McGill Union, read by Syd. Harris, retiring secretary, showed that the Union was some seven hundred dollars ahead. There had been a great falling off in the receipts of the billiard room, which had formerly paid for all overhead expenditure. This year the Union had depended entirely on the cafeteria for its profit.

Bert Rochester, prior to handing over to Packham, the reins of office ran over Syd. Harris's report in detail. He emphasized the fact that the Union could only be a success as long as it had the support of the students. More banquets had been held in the Union this year, and for the first time, the catering for the formal dances was done by the Union Cafeteria.

Following Packham's inauguration, the meeting was adjourned with the singing of "Hail Alma Mater," and the McGill Yell.

Roommate—Say, can I borrow your hat again?
Stude—Sure, why the formality?
Roommate—Oh, I can't find it.

ARTS UNDERGRADS WILL VOTE TODAY

Today all Arts men should turn out in force to elect their officers for the coming year. A number of competent men have been nominated and they are worthy of the full support of the whole undergraduat body of the faculty.

C. T. Teakle has been elected president by acclamation, while for vice-president C. D. Everett, Arts '25, and Robert V. Fortune, Arts '25, will be opposed. The office of treasurer is being contested for by three men, H. P. Teakle, Arts '26, who is president of his year; G. Gorrie, '26, and Fraser Cameron, also of '26. These elections are of paramount importance and it is desirable that the best men be elected so that the Faculty of Arts may continue to progress as it has done during the past session.

THE RIGHT IDEA

Roll 'em girls, for the sake of your spine, Boston osteopaths advise. Garters, Dr. George W. Woods, president of the Boston College of Osteopathy, declares, are responsible for rounded shoulders, flat chests and spinal curvatures.

"Perfect freedom of the limbs is necessary to develop a perfect body," he said. "Garters either exert a pull on the shoulders or stop circulation. The rolled stocking is the proper style."
